Christopher Kennedy Lawford is a distinguished advocate for critical health issues facing our society today. His commitment to the issues of substance abuse and hepatitis C has reinvigorated the debate around these vital concerns.

He spends his time writing, acting and speaking around the world on health issues. He is the author of several books, including the New York Times bestseller

Symptoms of Withdrawal: A Memoir of Snapshots and Redemption and in May 2009 Harper Collins released his third book Healing Hepatitis C.

Currently, he holds positions as a Public Policy Consultant for Caron Treatment Centers and works with the United Nations, the Canadian Center on Substance Abuse in efforts to raise awareness globally about addiction and hepatitis. He holds a Masters Certification in Clinical Psychology from Harvard Medical School as a Lecturer on Psychiatry.

Lawford was born on March 29, 1955 in Santa Monica, California.

telling us that liver disease will be the second largest cause of death in Canada in the next five years, and we are patients going through treatment at some time in the near future. it would have five bedrooms [large with a T.V ,phone and room for a visitor or two then there would be a communal kitchen for the patients and there care givers to exchange ideas, we would have a nurse come in once a day to check on patients as well as a nutritionist, social worker, psychologist.house cleaning, ect I know that this is expensive but we would like to keep the original stacey house for long term care of liver transplant patients both from VGH and childrens hospital for the caregivers and patients. your truly karen stacey founder happy liversociety 604 872 5509
